

RIVER SEDIMENTATION GAINS

Journal/Bill Byrns

Tim Kelleher, left, project manager for the Corps of Engineers' feasibility study of the Kankakee River, Illinois, was part of a Corps Open House Tuesday at the Civic Auditorium. Nani Bhownik of the Illinois State Water Survey shows evidence that two major areas of the river are losing capacity to sedimentation. The presentation shows evidence that two major areas of the river are losing capacity to sedimentation. The presentation was part of a Corps Open House Tuesday at the Civic Auditorium.